

Sinclair Broadcasting is attempting to use their media and corporate power to favour George W. Bush. Without giving equal time to media favourable to John Kerry, this should be regulated in the manner that political ads and addresses are.

Instead, Sinclair is violating FCC regulations and should be stopped. If Janet Jackson's nipple can cause such a furor, then thwarting democracy and partisan media ownership should be an outrage. This is the danger or deregulation measures taken in the '90's.

Please, do not allow Sinclair to use their powerful reach into the homes of thousands Americans with political propaganda that is being broadcast as news. Airing a political documentary with connections to the Swift Boat Veterans aimed at attacking the Presidential candidate that Sinclair dislikes to favour the Presidential candidate that Sinclair has actively supported is extremely dangerous.

People look to the news to be informative and objective. This changes the very philosophy of newscasts and the role of media ownership in relation to political endeavours in a very anti-democratic manner.
